THE EASTERN QUESTION.

EUROPE REASSURED OF PEACE BY AN UTTER-ANCE OF THE CEAR—THE GREAT POWERS TO PERMIT THE SULTAN AND HIS SUBJECTS TO SOLVE THE DIFFICULTY.

LONDON, June 19, 1876. The Paris correspondent of the Times, in a letter reviewing the print attitude of the Eastern question, concludes as follows:—

"The Czar yesterday, in taking leave of a lady who wishe i him a good journey, replied with undisguised satisfaction:—'I hope I shall spend more tranquil days at Jugenheim than those I have passed at Ems.' SUBJECTS ARE LIKELY TO DISCOVER.

Such a remark as this is tantamount to a specific promise, and it may be inferred that the European Powers are determined to remain spectators of what passes between Turkey and her subjects and vassals. This does not mean that the pacification of Turkey is an accomplished fact, or that we are on tha eve of its being effected. The insurgents do not seem disposed to lay down their arms, nor Montenegro and Servia to abandon their pretension of annexing consent of Turkey herself; but what is known to-day appears to indicate that none of the European Powers will support the insurgents and their neighbors, though sone will endeavor to thwart their designs, and when the insurgents and the Porte come face to face, and tion will, perhaps, finish as it began—that is, without anybody knowing the reason why. At the present ent everybody, particularly the six Powers, are convinced that peace will not be disturbed beyond the frontiers of Turkey."

CHARLES BRENT'S RELEASE-THE LAW OF EX-TRADITION WITH AMERICA-A DEATH MYS-TERY NOT SATISFACTORILY EXPLAINED.

London, June 19, 1876.
Application was made to-day before the Court, of neen's Bench for the discharge of Charles Brent, the Louisville forger.

Sir John Holker, the Attorney General, offered no resistance to the application, but stated that negotia-tions were now proceeding between the governments of Great Britain and the United States as to the meaning of the extradition treaty, but he could not say they would be finished in a short time. He therefore left the matter in the hands of the Court. MADE FREE NEGRO COMMUNISM IN A WEST INDIA COLONY. The Bishop and Archdeacon of Barbaeos and thirty four clergymen, constituting the entire body of Bar bados clergy, and four Moravian missionaries, have signed a statement for presentation to Earl Carnarvon, Colonial Minister, detailing the outrageous character of the late riots on that island.

IGNORANCE AND AVABUR They say the riots were not caused by any suffering among the people, but by a general impression among the negroes that the land and property of the planters would be divided among them, with the Governor's consent. They state that they cannot tell how this impression was created, but it was undoubtedly general, and the belief is still very general that all this property has been awarded to the negroes by the Queen, at the Governor's instance, and is being wrongfully withheld from them. Consequently, the feeling sgainst all the property owners is intensely bitter and hostile, and it will require firmness and judgment on the part of the authorities to remove this impression, even if it is removable during the present generation.

THE CORN TRADE DURING THE WEEK The Mark Lane Express, in its review of the British corn trade for the past week, says concurrent with the improvement in the aspect of the crops anxiety about political matters has decreased. The market has, con-sequently, relapsed into a state of calm, and, with large supplies from America and Russia, trade has been confined to supplying present requirements. As summer approaches the markets will be to a great extent subject to the influences of the weather. But there does not seem to be much probability that the present price of wheat will vary to a marked extent, and in the absence of speculation the probable wants of millers must form the basis of future transactions.

Cargoes off the coast have shown signs of steadiness, but the general tone of the trade has been quiet, while very little inclination is shown to operate for future delivery, quotations remaining nearly nominal.

BRENT'S CASE-THE LEGAL ARGUMENT AND JUDICIAL RULING.

LONDON, June 20, 1876. The Times, in its report of the disposition of the forger Brent's case yesterday, states that Sir John Relker, the Attorney General, said he could not oppose the spplication for the prisoner's discharge. He would have been glad to obtain the opinion of the country. to obtain the opinion of the Court on the question, but feared there was no mode of doing so. The British and American governments had been en-gaged in correspondence, but had not succeeded in coming to an agreement. In the meanwhile the two months during which the prisoner's detention was legal had elapsed.

Chief Justice Cockburn said the provision, permitting cause to be shown for further detention, would hardly apply in the present case, or in regard to a disagree ment between two governments concerning the terms of a treaty. The prisoner must therefore be discharged.

DEPARTURE FROM NEWPORT-TORPEDO SALUTE-RETURN TO PHILADELPHIA.

The Emperor, Empress and suite left Newport this morning for Wickford on board the steamer Eolus. The weather, unfortunately, was so foggy that, although the steamer approached quite close to the torpede station, those on board could discern nothing through station, those on board could discern nothing through the haze. The steamer gave the preconcerted signal of her presence as soon as she came abreast of the point, where it had been arranged to give the torpedo salute. Scarcely had the shrill whistie of the steamer died seel shuddered perceptibly in sympathy with the first explosion. As torpedo after torpedo rapidly exploited the same sensation was felt on board, though nothing could be seen of the effects of the explosion. Only the most keen sighted imagined they saw a white column rise through the gray fog, but it was so indistinct that it made no impression. General regret was felt at the failure of the intended spectacle, as had the weather been more favorable it could not have failed to be very imposing. It was also the first occasion in which a torpede salute was given to any Emperor or ruler, and for this reason, as well as to display the cer-tain command exercised by the torpedo officers over their dread engines, they had set their hearts on making a telling display. The elements, if not the goda were, however, against them. His Majesty after peer ing through the fog for some time and listening to rapidly succeeding explosions, got discouraged and went below, thinking the salute was all over. At this moment the fog cleared a little, and two torpedees were exploded quite close to the steamer, in splendid style; but His Majesty did not see them, though some of his

After this fire a meeting was called by Mayor Rossitior for the purpose of organizing an efficient fire department. This meeting was a faiture, only a few were present, and these were averse to increased expenditures so that when the fire broke out the means at command in the town were inadequate to battle with the flames, and the consequence is the destruction of the most go-a-head place in the Eastern townships. The Montreal brigade arrived at eleven o'clock, only to find that the work of destruction had been partly completed, and that there was but little chance of saving anything from the wreck. Many householders removed furniture and goods into the street to save them from fire, but they met with the same fate as other property. The total salvage will not amount to more than $10,000. The Mayor worked very hard to save his property, and is to-day a runned man, baving lost everything by the fire, and is badly burned besides. To-day I am a ruined man; $20,000 loss $5,000 insurance." All the houses were shingle rooted, and to this fact is due the rapidity with which the flames spread. The Merchants Bank safe, reported to be destroyed, turns out to be all right. One of the Montreal firemen was badly burned and has been compelled to go to the hospital to-day. The unfortunate people are still housed in the old military barracks and the asylum and provisions are again tolerably plentful to-day. A meeting was held to-day in St. Johns to devise means of relief and take action with the Town Council for restoring the town. The cause of the fire is stated by the railway officials to be in the saw mills and not from the locomotive, as they allege no engine passed through yesterday morning. The loss of the Clitzen's insurance Company is $50,000, instead of $40,000, partly caused by a $7,000 insurance for the Royal Canadian.

A LARGE FIRE AT HUDSON.

About twelve o'clock, last night; a fire broke out in the ingine room of the propeller John Taylor, lying at the lock of the Athens and Schenectady Railroad, opposite this city, and the flames rapidly extended to the other ressels at the dock and to the depot buildings, which were simost totally destroyed. The vessels burned were almost totally destroyed. The vessels burned were the John Taylor, the bargo Hercules, loaded with sugar, and the canal boat Stephen Warren, with a cargo of merchandise. These vessels belonged to the line of John H. Starin. A canal boat belonging to Smith Betts was damaged slightly. The large depot, Smith Betts was damaged slightly. The large depot, 1,600 feet long, built at great expense by Daniel Drew, and known as the "White Elephant," was nearly destroyed with its contents, including Ireight; 100 freight cars standing on the track and loaded with flour, corp, cats and tobacco, were totally consumed. This freight was consigned to Messrs David Dows, Stillwell & Co. Jesse Hoyt, and others, of New York. The deput belonged to the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad Company. All the books and papers of the railroad company and of Starm's line were saved. The loss is about $400,000. At present the loases and amount of insurance cannot be ascertained. The fire was purely accidental and would have been checked with small loss but for the prevailing high wind. The whole village was at one time in imminent danger, but by the exertions of the firemen the flames were confined to the docks and vicinity.

INDIANS APPROACHING DENVER. COLORADO SETTLERS PREPARING TO FIGHT. [From the Denver Tribune, Jane 15.]

From Brigadier General J. L. Brush, who arrived in Denver by yesterday morning's D. P. train, we learn Valley; that a general feeling of danger from the Sioux prevails and that the settlers of that long strip of country have already removed their families to Evans and arms for a company now being organized at Evans and Greeley, and to purchase ammunition for the two com-panies already equipped, one with headquariers at Sterling and the other at Godfrey. His call for arms was at first necessarily refused by Acting Governor Tuffe, who was informed by the Adjutant General that Tate, who was informed by the Adjutant General that the Territory had none on hand. But a supply of twenty-five Spencer rides, resighted by Gove, was soon after made known by Captain Smith, of the Jorvis Hall Cadets, who, under orders from the acting Governor, telegraphed to the principal of the college for their immediate shipment to this point, so that they can be forwarded to Greeley this morning. This exhausts the territorial supply,

Department comes to our relief. TROOPS IN THE VALLEY. The militia companies now organized and on duty in The militia companies now organized and on duty in the valley, including the one in process of organization at Evans and Greeley, are three in number, and embrace about 125 men, rank and file. They are divided into the following organizations:—

Sterling Scoute—Forty-five men, armed with Spencer rifles. The captain is S. S. Kempton, and the lirat lieutenant, Ed. Smith. They received their arms last week, and are now fully organized and on duty in the field.

Recitebant, 2d. Smith. They received their arms in week, and are now fully organized and on duty in the field.

South Platte Guards—Forty-six men, armed with twenty-five Spender rifles from Jarvis Hall, and with rifles owned by the mea. The captain is C. C. Chambers; the first inculenant, L. C. Bell, and the second licetenant, G. B. Bowlos. This organization musters at Godirey, and is also ready for active operations.

Weld County Rifles—Twenty-five men, to be armed with Spencer rifles from Jarvis Hall. This company will muster in Evans and Greeley. The officers have not yet been selected. Should the situation demand it the number of men will be doubled. A genteman who came up from the valley yesterday afternoon, reports the presence of Indians, in small bands, on Crow and Beaver creeks, and that two of the redskins were killed on Beaver day before yesterday. Most of the settlers have removed their families to the county seats, but have returned to protect their cattle from roving scalpers. It is hardy necessary to repeat, in this connection, the urgont necessity for a company of regular cavairy in the invaded country. Nothing short of this will restore condidence and thus permit the settlers to look after their crops and herds, instead of playing soldier under a militia system that's too lame to be called a farce. The whole shing is sadly in need of reconstruction, unless the general government is to be our sole dependence in cases of riot or danger from thieving Indians.

ANOTHER MURDER IN LOUISIANA.

[From the New Orleans Times.] The Iberville fiend Lorenzo Jackson, who so foully murdered Messrs. McCardie and Graham and danger-ously wounded Mr. Doumonville, it is sail, has added her crime to his record.

another crime to his record.

While wandering through the woods shortly after the commission of the deed, Jackson met a colored woman bearing breakfast to her husband, a wood chopper. An outlaw, hunted to the death, the cries of his pursuers yet ringing in his ears, this modern latimate heritated not to sacridee her life to possess himself of the food she carried.

It was all over in a moment—the unfortunate woman's brains bespattered the aurroundings—her life blood crimsoning the sward. Then cooily wiping his bludgeon on her dress Jackson sat himself down beside her body, yet warm with the presence of life, and there are his breakfast.

This was the scene that greeted the afrighted wood chopper when, weary with labor and dissatisfied at his wife's delay, he started homoward to learn the cause of her absence.

To his superstitious mind the body of his wife and Jackson's presence bordered on the supernatural, and with a how of fright the wood chopper fied, stopping not until he reache i his cabin, where to an incredulous audience he related his experience.

Finally a hunt was organized, but proved unsuccessfel, Jackson having taken advantage of his opportunity and gone no one knows whither.
